

Become an IA Advocate

We need your voice for the industry.

Advocate (n) — a person who publicly supports or recommends a particular cause or policy

I am an employee of an IA member company. Sign me up!

The Irrigation Association has a new community for IA members who are interested in staying on top of legislative and regulatory issues affecting the industry. This new “advocate” membership is available only to individuals who are employed by IA member companies. Being an advocate is more than just talking — it’s doing. The IA is looking to its membership to step up to the plate and serve as a voice for the industry, participate in the political process, and advance the industry into the 21st century and beyond. And, it’s FREE.

By signing up as an advocate, you will also receive

- access to a new IA quarterly e-newsletter, Insiders Update.
- the ability to participate in IrrigationPAC activities, including regular updates on national and state elections.
- reduced registration fee to the IA’s Washington, D.C., fly-in, which is part of the annual Water Resources Congressional Summit.
- free subscriptions to Irrigation & Green Industry (monthly) and/or Irrigation Today (quarterly) magazines.

Please complete the form below. Advocate membership status will remain current for three years, although your status will be revoked if you cease to be employed by an IA member company. Advocate membership must be renewed in 2022.
